CONTENS

Section 1. ACCOUNTING, ANALYSIS AND AUDIT

Kiril’eva L., Chernikova I. Organization of credit transaction’s accounting in the system of management financial recourses...... 7
Kiril’eva D. The management aspect of costs classification for enterprises of hospitality industry................................. 17
Kaschena N., Goroshanskaya E. Information and analytical support of management of current assets of an enterprise.............. 27

Section 2. ECONOMICS OF CATERING AND TRADE ENTERPRISES

Chorna M., Bugrimenko R., Shilova Yu. Features of the national economy................................................................. 40
Chorna M., Shumilo O. Modern tendencies of development of retail trade networks in Ukraine........................................... 51
Vlasova N., Mykhailova O. Tendencies and peculiarities of the circulating assets formation in the retail trade enterprises.... 64
Dyadyuk M. Weak signals management in the system of trade enterprises adaptive management................................. 74
Melushova I., Kot E. Use of ABC analysis during formation of price policy of trade enterprises........................................ 84
Zubkov S., Kolesnyk A. Multiobjective optimization of structure of sources of financing of circulating assets of trade enterprise..... 95
Ivanyuta O. The essence, types and stages of forming the policy of managing loan resources of a commercial enterprise........... 105
Osypenko S., Tovma O. Methodical aspects of managing enterprise value........................................................................ 114
Melushova I., Vivdenko M. Adaptation and adaptive enterprise management: theoretical aspects................................. 124

Section 3. ECONOMIC THEORY AND FOREIGN ECONOMIC ACTIVITY

Yesinova N., Sabeckaja N. Aspects of state regulation of labor incomes........................................................................... 134
Esinova N., Startseva V., Nikitina E. The problem of adaptation of university students based on social partnership.............. 141
Androsova T., Chernyshova L., Kozub V. European experience of clusters’ development ................................................. 147
Chernega O., Ditrich I., Bondarchuk M. Trends in the world aquaculture of hydrocole of plant origin ................................................. 155
Zaretskaya L., Kulinic O. The mechanism of state regulation in higher education ................................................................. 168
Pominova I. Evolution of the role of higher education in the current economic system ................................................................. 180

Section 4. MANAGEMENT AND MARKETING

Pichuhina T., Zabrodskaia L., Zabrodskaia A., Sharapova E. Enterprise information strategy: approaches to the essence determination ................................................................. 191
Bubenets I., Kozub V., Artemenko V., Chatchenko O. Innovative marketing principles of multinational corporations development ................................................................. 203
Tkachenko O., Tkachova S., Timchenko O., Olshanskiy O. Labor motivation system in restaurant business enterprises from the perspective of personnel ................................................................. 213
Zhегус O. Marketing innovation as a prerequisite of business development ................................................................. 227
Sobolev V. Effectiveness marketing simulation for retailers ................................................................. 238
Shalko V., Zakharov V. Changes of management paradigm in the context of transformation of power, authority and influence forms ................................................................. 252
Brytanska N., Levitska I. Main directions improve the efficiency of enterprises of sugar industry ................................................................. 259
Bokovets V. Features of corporate operation of the enterprises ................................................................. 268
Kucherenko V. Trends in export-import activity of wine industry ................................................................. 279

Section 5. SCIENTIFIC GROUNDS OF HUMANITARIAN TRAINING OF STUDENTS

Borysova A., Kolesnyk A., Arkhypova V., Manuyenkova O. Playing projecting as one of main elements of foreign languages teaching ................................................................. 293
Borysova A., Kolesnyk A., Manuyenkova O., Belikova O. Methods and techniques of foreign language teaching........................................... 302
Kolesnyk A., Belikova O., Manuyenkova O. Organization of students’ self-study in the process of foreign language studing with use of internet-resources................................................................. 312
Kravtsova T. Teaching foreign students abstracting scientific articles using professionally oriented texts.......................................................... 325
Kravtsova T., Injuhina A., Muraviova O. Influence of adaptational factors on successful studying of foreign students......................... 331
Dibrova V., Voloshin P. Visual modeling in scientific research, the development of foreign languages and on practical training..... 339
Petrova L., Chernyh M. Taking into account the individual characteristics of students of KSUFT as a way of optimal physical qualitits........................................................................................................... 349
Moskaliov V., Rusanov M. Optimization of the process of warm-up in football for the students in sports improvement groups........ 358
Kudriashov I., Artyugin A., Rusanov M. Healthy life-style formation and the problem of physical fitness of students from KHSUFT........................................................................................................ 369
Sapozhnikova L. The influence of forming word picture of the semantics of lingual culture words and sensor vocabularys.. 377
Alphabetical index.................................................................................................................. 385
Requirements for the articles.......................................................................................... 392